Description

This hand-finished water butt offers a realistic, raised woodgrain finish that can look attractive in any garden. The generous 270 litre capacity is perfect for collecting and storing rainwater for activities such as watering plants and washing a car.

The water butt comes pre-drilled with x2 ¾" BSP brass threaded ports. One can be used to connect the brass tap which is included as standard and the other can be used as a draining port or a connector can be attached to another water butt. Also included is a removable child safety lid making this product suitable for family homes.

An additional option (at an additional cost) for this product is the 3P Filter Collector with Universal Link Kit. This filter is everything you need for collecting water from your downpipe and filter any debris before transferring the water into the tank.
